NEW YORK DRY GOODS MARKET.
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Advances in wild sheetings have been the feature to-day in bleached cottons some good order turned down for forward deliveries at current prices. Changes are in favor of a further general advance. Brown sheeting and drills are strong, but the demand hardly up to recent proportions. No quotable change in prices. Denims showing further advances of 4c. in several leading makes, and other coarse colored cottons very firm. Print cloths firm but quieter. Prints are in good general demand.

THE STAR COURSE.

Many Attractions are Booked for the Coming Season.
The seventh annual Star Course will be a most successful one both from the standpoint of the attractions booked and attendance. While the course does not open until November 23, a large number of season tickets have been sold, and the committee feel sure that by the end of the week there will not be a season ticket left. A very attractive prospectus has been issued giving full information concerning the entertainments.

The course is a very expensive one from the standpoint of talent. Special care has been taken to secure excellent entertainments and to give in the course a sufficient variety to interest all.

The re-appearance of entertainment, with the exception of the Grand Opera Club as the opening entertainment, with Mrs. J. W. Smith, as dramatic reader, will give the course a splendid success. As heretofore, single admission can be secured. From fifty to sixty per cent can be saved by purchasing season tickets.

The issue of season tickets has been limited to five hundred, and the first allotment of reserved seats will take place on Monday night, October 20th. In Association Auditorium. Persons desiring a copy of the prospectus may secure same by calling at the building, and sending it registered by mail on application by telephone.

Bijou—Press Eldridge and other first-class specialty artists.

Madame Janauschek was greeted by a large audience at the New Academy of Music last night, when she presented the great play "Meg Merrilies."

This play has not been seen here for years. The version presented by Janauschek and her admirable company, is a new version, considerably amended, and was most pleasingly rendered.

Madame Janauschek has lost none of the magnetism or the charm these she possessed years ago, when her name was a by-word for lovers of the drama. She retains all those qualities necessary for the

The great play, "Darkest Russia," that has achieved a phenomenal success, and that has been played in the larger cities of the country for seven consecutive years, will be seen at the New Academy of Music to-night.

The cast is a strong one and each performer is said to have been cut out for the special part that is assigned him.

This will be a notable performance, and one of the theatrical events of the season.

At the Bijou.

There has never been seen at the Bijou a better entertainment than that which opened the week's engagement at the cosy play-house last night. The theatre was packed to the doors, and many people were turned away because there was no room in the house when the curtain was rung up.

Presa Eldridge, the commander-in-chief of the army of fun, the headliner, was received with quite an ovation. He ran off a monologue that was new and that created laughter and applause that was genuine. His songs were up-to-date, and will be hummed all the week as they are of the catchy kind. The Ellmore sisters in the "Dangerous Mrs. Delahay," made quite a hit, and it was perfectly original. The comedy introduced by the unique way in which it was presented pleased everybody. Dereaux and Dereaux, presented the cleverest musical act that has ever been seen at the Bijou. The work of the team is original, and both are expert musicians. The comedy introduced is crisp and bright, and the turn made by the team is a perfect one.

The Sankor Brothers' acrobatic act, was received with rounds of applause, and the artists were forced to take several bows. They are graceful, wonderful performers, and already favorites.

Parrell and Starke, a pair of expert cyclists, did a very clever and original act, and that has gained them a place high in the lists of favorites. They performed a number of daring and original feats. James and May Fauson, in their juvenile character sketch were well received, and heard to big applause.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday with a number of new moving pictures of the Dewey celebration and other prominent events.

Nightly performances, and matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday will close the stay of the artists.
